

QCHAMBERSTREAM.COM – founded by Dorn Music & BFMI in April 2020
the new streaming channel for chamber music concerts

QCHAMBERSTREAM.COM is THE premiere platform for quality and cutting edge streamed performances. The philosophy: Quality, Q comes first. The international platform allows select Q soloists to perform a unique Q program live, broadcast in high-end video and sound Q for an audience and for interested viewers to experience top Q concerts online. Tickets for the online concert are sold at EUR 25 and help to secure musicians' fees.

QCHAMBERSTREAM.COM streams from various venues including a century-old art nouveau mansion in Hannover and the modern and industrial Gravity Media production center in Los Angeles. Most importantly: The venues look and sounds extraordinary. The feedback from artists, media and audiences was overwhelming following the first concerts in Hannover and Los Angeles.

"I want to thank QChamberStream from the bottom of my heart for this extraordinary opportunity to express myself through music. Thank you for the great support during the preparation and execution, the fascinating images and the beautiful sound! I received a lot of enthusiastic e-mails and messages after the concert. "

Riveli Dörken (Piano)

"My performance at QChamberStream allowed me to get in touch with my audiences all around the world. Playing the concert in front of cameras just felt like playing for an audience being present there.

I knew: The sound and video will be perfect, which is why I could really concentrate on making music. I am happy for all colleagues who get the same opportunity."

Judicaël Perroy (Guitar)

"QChamberStream was a unique opportunity to play a concert during Corona-times. The fantastic team in Los Angeles providing the best technology and professional setting for me made me feel very comfortable, although being surrounded by cameras instead of people. I am excitingly looking forward to the upcoming concerts at QChamberStream. "

Tickets are EUR 25 each, allowing the viewer to experience the concert LIVE or as a catch-up on the QCHAMBERSTREAM.com channel within the week after

"Our new streaming channel QCHAMBERSTREAM.COM allows select soloists to perform live for an audience and for interested viewers to experience top quality concerts. In order to generate fees for the musicians, tickets for the live concert experience are sold. I truly believe in a revival of chamber music and, together with our partners, will expand the (successfully started?) format internationally. - Tanja Dorn, leading artist manager and founder of global artist management and production agency Dorn Music with offices in Hannover and New York.

"Both the musical and the audiovisual quality enhance the viewer's experience and subsequently, their willingness to remain with the stream. We work with the artists to simultaneously promulgate their music and create income opportunities." - Bernhard Fleischer, leading producer of concert broadcasts.
